CONSTRUCTION QUALITY MANAGEMENT CLASS FOR CONTRACTORS

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Louisville District, in partnership with the Naval Facilities Engineering Command and the Associated General Contractors, West Central Ohio Division offers the Construction Quality Management for Contractors Class #784 in Dayton, Ohio.

US Army Corps of Engineers Requirements:

The US Army Corps of Engineers (Corps) requires all contractors performing construction compliance with the "Contractor Quality Control" (CQC), provisions in their contracts. In the early development of the CQC system, there was considerable misunderstanding as to what was required and who was responsible for it. In cooperation with the construction industry, the Corps developed a training course entitled "Construction Quality Management for Contractors (CQM)". The purpose of this course is to familiarize all quality management personnel with the Corps construction quality management policies and procedures. The course details the requirements of the government and contractor personnel assigned to the project and the reasons for those requirements. The effectiveness of the CQM system is enhanced when all personnel are aware of their responsibilities and the reasons for them. To ensure the success of the CQC system, every Corps construction contract stipulates that the contractor's quality control representative is required to have this training. This course is offered throughout the year by many Corps offices and contractor associations across the nation.

The certificate issued upon successful completion of the CQM class is good for 5 years.

USACE CQM Training Hosted by the AGC West Central Ohio Division:

On a bi-monthly basis, the AGC West Central Ohio Division facilitates a CQM training session in Dayton, Ohio for the US Army Corps of Engineers, Louisville District. Typically, CQM classes are offered in February, April, June, August, October, and December, on Tuesday and Wednesday, 8:00 AM – 3:00 PM, in the second or third week of these months.

A Certified Instructor of the US Army Corps of Engineers provides CQM training using video, lecture, and individual/group work. All participants are issued a training manual, developed by the US Army Corps of Engineers and the US Naval Facilities Engineering Command.

A course certificate will be awarded to those who successfully complete the training and pass a final exam. The certificate is valid for a five-year period from the date of the class.

All Quality Control Representatives new to the CQC system are required to complete CQM for Contractors #784. Currently, all persons needing recertification must also attend CQM training.

CQM Training will be held at Shook Construction's Conference Room located at 2000 W. Dorothy Lane, Moraine, OH 45439. If lodging is needed, the following are convenient options:
