CONSTRUCTION QUALITY MANAGEMENT CLASS FOR CONTRACTORS

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Louisville District, in partnership with the Naval Facilities Engineering Command and the AGC, West Central Ohio Division DBA Construction Builders Association of Ohio offers the Construction Quality Management for Contractors training in Dayton, Ohio.

US Army Corps of Engineers Requirements:

The US Army Corps of Engineers (Corps) requires all contractors performing construction compliance with the "Contractor Quality Control" (CQC), provisions in their contracts. In the early development of the CQC system, there was considerable misunderstanding as to what was required and who was responsible for it. In cooperation with the construction industry, the Corps developed a training course entitled "Construction Quality Management for Contractors (CQM)". The purpose of this course is to familiarize all quality management personnel with the Corps construction quality management policies and procedures. The course details the requirements of the government and contractor personnel assigned to the project and the reasons for those requirements. The effectiveness of the CQM system is enhanced when all personnel are aware of their responsibilities and the reasons for them. To ensure the success of the CQC system, every Corps construction contract stipulates the contractor's quality control representative is required to have this training. This course is offered throughout the year by many Corps offices with contractor associations across the nation.

USACE CQM in Dayton, OH Training:

The Construction Builders Association facilitates a CQM training session in Dayton, Ohio for the US Army Corps of Engineers, Louisville District. CQM classes may be offered in February, April, June, August, October, and/or December, on Tuesday and Wednesday, 8:00 AM - 3:00 PM, in the second week of these months.

A Certified Instructor of the US Army Corps of Engineers provides CQM training using video, lecture, and individual/group work. All participants are issued a training manual, developed by the US Army Corps of Engineers and the US Naval Facilities Engineering Command.

A course certificate will be awarded to those who successfully complete the training and pass a final exam. The certificate issued upon successful course completion is valid for a five-year period from the class date.

All Quality Control Representatives new to the CQC system are required to complete CQM for Contractors #784. Currently, all persons needing recertification must also attend CQM training.
